Dear Atlantic County Community:

This has been a year of continued recovery for the Atlantic County Workforce Development Board. With the increase in public mobility and tourism, we have seen more activity at many business locations and an increase in the demand for employees in all sectors of the economy.

The Atlantic County Workforce Development Board (ACWDB) continues to play a leading role in supporting the recovery of our workforce. We have collaborated closely with our partners in the public and private sectors to develop and implement new programs and services to help job seekers and employers.

We continue to expand our job training programs to meet the needs of in-demand industries, such as healthcare, manufacturing, and technology. We also placed over 300 youth and young adults in summer jobs or internships.

In addition to our job search and training programs, we also provide a variety of other services to support job seekers and employers. These services include career counseling, job placement, literacy assistance, and GED testing.

We are committed to continuing to support Atlantic County Workforce Development. I would like to thank the One Stop Center team, all the ACWDB committee chairs and members for volunteering their time and expertise for the residents of Atlantic County.

We are grateful for the support of our partners and stakeholders, and we look forward to working together to build a strong and skilled workforce for our community.

Sincerely,

Jim Drew

WELCOME!

Hello and welcome to the 2022-2023 Atlantic County Workforce Development Board Annual Report. During the past year we have finally made our way out of the depths of the pandemic and now it seems to be moving much closer to pre-pandemic service levels. We have returned to an open, face-to-face service delivery system, but have kept the convenience of virtual services for economic and efficient communication. While there is something to be said for taking less than thirty seconds to get to a meeting, the lack of interaction and spontaneity of a group conversation left a void in the ability to network and build relationships.

As was discussed last year, the Atlantic County Workforce Development Board was intent on using RELEVANCE as its theme for the 2021-2022 program year. Recognizing how important it was to be known as a resource for both workforce candidates and employers became a primary focus. We developed and expanded the job development unit and began linking our services to other resource providers to increase community awareness of the services and resources we provide. We reinforced the importance of the services and took steps to begin marketing the resources and services we offer. While we made some headway in being a better-known workforce resource, we still have a long way to go.

In our current program year, we shifted the focus to building RELATIONSHIPS with resource partners and communities. As you can see from our photos, we worked hard during this past year to build business and community relationships to improve our relevance and expand our connection to the communities in Atlantic County, including the business community.

In the late summer of 2022, we decided we needed to bring our services to the people of Atlantic County, rather than wait for them to come to us. We began building relationships with the county's family success centers to connect with members of the community. Those centers are located in Atlantic City, Galloway, Egg Harbor Township and Hammonton. While there was limited activity in the three areas outside of Atlantic City, the two centers in the city, Oceanside 1 and Oceanside 2, became a focus of activity for the respective communities.

At the same time, the agency began connecting with multiple diverse communities, working to create workforce service opportunities for businesses and community leaders. During the past year, the agency developed relationships with leaders of the Bangladesh community, Hispanic Community Center and the Fellowship of Churches, in an effort to increase awareness of the services we provide. At the same time, we began planning a marketing strategy to continue to improve public awareness of the services.

Again in late fall of 2022, we were able to use marketing funds to develop a series of testimonials with successful job holders who were trained and supported by the agency. In recent months, we have marketed targeted programs for dealer training to address the casinos need for table dealers. Also at the same time, we began utilizing the radio to let residents know about our services. We now have a regular invitation to be on Dan Klein's 'Klein Time' on WOND and a monthly discussion with WEHA, Gospel radio, thanks to one of our newer board members, Elaine Hawkins. Our Job Developers have also been visiting local business associations and community events to engage business owners in their communities.

As we move into the new program year, we want to build on our prior year's success and focus on the need for RESPECT for all of the members and services that make up the Atlantic County community. We will continue to develop our themes of relevance and relationship-building with the ultimate objective of being known within all communities of being a valuable resource for building careers and businesses in Atlantic County.

I want to thank County Executive Dennis Levinson, the county commissioners and county administrator, for their support and guidance. I also would like to thank all of the members of the Atlantic County Workforce Development Board and its subcommittees, the staff of the One Stop Career Center, and our state and community partners for their willingness to engage and transform our services.

We look forward to this coming year and the accomplishments we hope to achieve for the benefit of members of our Atlantic County communities.

Relationships: Success Story

The Youthworks Unit worked with M. Liddell in March 2023. She wanted to get her Certified Nursing Aid license. She enrolled in the occupational training grant program. She was dealing with a barrier since she had a legal charge and was worried it would affect her progress to obtain this license. I, as her counselor, did some research and informed her that her particular charge didn't exempt her to achieve this goal. She completed her studies at Allied Health Institute and obtained her CNA license. She now works as a CNA at Our Lady's of Center for Rehabilitation & Healthcare facility. I admire her determination in achieving her goals despite the odds that were stacked against her.
